Table as of 02/04/07

Erkenwald, 1 game to play. Lakers 1 game.

Gentlemen, as you can see from the table, it is very close at the top. Although the 4 teams that go through to the play-offs have been decided, The top position is dependant on the result of the last game between Erkenwald and Lakers. This match will take place on 19/04 at Sidney Russell. This means that the play-off game must take place the following week.

As it has finally turned into a good, close season, it would be great if all teams could turn out to watch the final, no matter who is taking part. It will be my LAST formal retirement and it would be great to see you all there.
